Summary

Multidisciplinary designer working across visual communication, interface design, illustration, and digital products. Over the past 13 years, I've worked in both agency and in-house environments as an Art Director, Illustrator, and Senior UI/UX Designer, contributing to brand communication, marketing, and product experiences. Currently, I'm pursuing an MA in User Experience Design at Falmouth University, UK, with a focus on deepening my understanding of user behavior, systems thinking, and product design methodologies. I'm particularly interested in creative workflows, note-taking systems, and the relationship between people and digital tools. Alongside my work in design, I maintain an independent painting practice from my studio. As an arts practitioner, I have participated in national and international exhibitions, workshops, and collaborative art projects.
